

Haiti: Moving Beyond the Crisis and U.S. Responses

Wednesday May 29, 2024
10:00 AM-11:30 AM
Online Webinar

The transitional governance structure agreed to in mid-April through the mediation efforts of Caricom and direct support from the United States faces profound challenges, but at minimum provides a baseline framework that Haitian political and civil society actors can build from -- and that the international community, notably the US, can provide targeted support for. What are the mid to longer term prospects for the Presidential Council governance agreement to meet its goal of transitioning to an elected government by February 2026?
